Part 1: Making the Move - From Doing the Work to Leading the Team

Advancing from clinical or operational expert to leader is one of the most challenging transitions in healthcare. Success in leadership requires shifting from doing the work to empowering others to perform at their best. This session explores practical strategies to build trust, delegate effectively, and communicate with influence as you make the transition. As the author of The Disciplined Leader: Habits & Practices for Healthcare Leaders That Get Results, Fred Neis, RN, FACHE, FAEN will dive into his journey and learnings. Neis is an experienced health care executive and leadership coach with more than 30 years in clinical and executive roles. He is passionate about helping leaders build the habits and discipline that drive lasting results.
